Ethereum

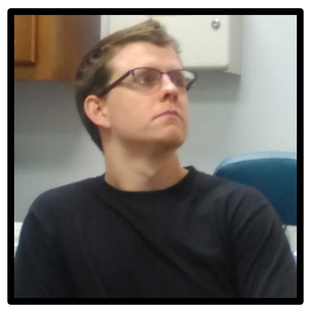

Blockchain Application

French Toast Mafia

CIS 497 – Senior Project – Spring 2018

Project Mentor: Steve Travers
CEO, Travers Consulting

Project Sponsor: Eddy Stephen's
CIO, Infirmary Health Systems

Kyle Fort

- I am an Information Technology major with a focus track in networking. I am from Santa Rosa Beach, FL. I currently serve part time for the Army National Guard.

Jon Robertson

- I am an Information Technology major with a focus in Networking and Digital Forensics
- I am currently an IT Technician at JB Computers and am an intern at Legal Imaging

Chase Helms

- I am an Information Systems major with a minor in General Business. I am from Andalusia, AL. I currently work at Infirmary Health Systems.

Brian Walters

- My major is Information Technology with a focus in Networking.
- I am currently in the AFROTC and will continue my IT career in the Air Force.

Summary

We will be creating a blockchain application for Infirmary Health. This application will be tracking, storing and reading diabetic health information using a public ledger. This is will allow doctors and patients to look at records and append them as needed. This blockchain will be written in Solidity powered by Ethereum.